Quality Designed to Fit Your Budget

Apart from the energy and time you invest looking for a great videographer, you are also spending hard earned money. Here are some important points to help you understand our services:

* Don't get bullied into a package deal. That may sound harsh, but we have never understood why you, the consumer, shouldn't be able to choose exactly what you want. It's hard to understand how 3 or 4 packages could suite every couple - every wedding is unique and should be treated that way.

* Don't hire a videographer by the hour. You don't want to have to be looking at your watch, before your wedding is over, worrying that the videographer may leave or you will be forced to pay huge overtime bills.

* You shouldn't have to pay for travel - within reason. We will travel almost anywhere.

* Make sure your camera person is using up-to-date equipment for shooting and editing - we use all new digital video and editing equipment.

* We provide all couples with the finest quality DVD or video coupled with Dolby Digital sound. There is no extra cost to have your selection of music, special effects and formating (wide screen or full screen).

* Make sure your videographer will be available to you after the wedding as well as before in case you have any questions or need to order extra DVDs or videos.

* Make sure you know all of your costs up front. In general, to shoot the whole day with no time limit, within reason, and a final edited DVD or video, the average cost will be around $1500 to $2500.
